

Problem Statement:

- One of the best ways for students to study for an exam is with a study guide, however, many teachers do not make study guides available to their students.

Who is Experiencing this Problem?

- Students across the country are often looking for effective ways to review and study for tests and exams.

How Can we Solve This Problem?

- We plan to make a database that will be able to make a study guide of varying questions based on user input of the subjects that they wish to study. Therefore, our database will be able to create an almost unlimited number of custom study guides that can cover exactly what each student needs.

Why Does This Problem Matter?

- Time is precious, even more so when you are a new college student juggling new responsibilities and being responsible for your own schedule. We want to help save college student time by not having to create with their own study guides, question by question.
